

UPCOMING EVENTS

March Break Fun

Join OPG and the River Institute at the St. Lawrence Power Development Visitor Centre

March 13 - Experimental Science

Want to make magic milk? How about Elephant toothpaste? Come and participate in awesome experiments, starting at 10:15 am, and stay for the many activities including microscope discovery.

March 14, 2017 – Man vs. Wild

Become a real life biologist for the day! Learn about traps, lures and bait from real scientists. Institute fish expert Matt Windle will be on hand to teach about fish dissection and demonstrate sampling gear.

March 15, 2017 – Planet Protectors

Matt “the Salamander Man” Ellerbeck will be on hand to talk about the threats to salamanders like climate change and habitat destruction, and what you can do to help. Other booths will focus on invasive species, endangered species and erosion.

March 16, 2017 – Nature Nut

Learn how to build a bat house from the River Institute’s own Dr. Hickey, and check out displays about terrestrial and aquatic invertebrates and other wildlife before joining the nature hike at 11:15 a.m.

March 17, 2017 – Eco-Arts

Discover just how beautiful nature can be. Make a homemade bird feeder, a vase from a bottle and even paint an Inuksuk! Local artist and environmentalist Jacqueline Milner will be on hand as a special guest instructor.

All programs run from 10 a.m. to noon. Drop in any time.
